

Legal Women ('LW') Privacy Policy

1. LW holds personal data for people who have requested to join our mailing list to:
 - communicate by sending occasional newsletters, and
 - send the digital magazine
2. LW collects the minimum amount of data, primarily names and email addresses, required for sending the digital magazine and occasional newsletters. LW does not hold sensitive personal information, such as date of birth, bank details or credit card details.
3. LW stores personal data securely, does not share it with third parties and will not do so in the future without your explicit consent, unless obliged or permitted by law. LW has never sold any data stored nor will it ever do so.
4. The information is stored for a legitimate business reason of communicating with subscribers.
5. If you no longer wish to receive emails from us, you can unsubscribe at any time by clicking the Mailchimp link in the footer of our emails.
6. LW may, from time to time, employ the services of other parties for dealing with certain processes necessary for the operation of the Website. The providers of such services do not have access to certain personal Data provided by Users of this Website. LW will allow other parties to use password protected services for arranging distribution of the magazine only.
7. This Website may, from time to time, provide links to other websites. We have no control over such websites and are not responsible for the content of these websites. This privacy policy does not extend to your use of such websites. You are advised to read the privacy policy or statement of other websites prior to using them.
8. LW reserves the right to change this privacy policy as appropriate from time to time or as may be required by law. Any changes will be posted on the website, and you are deemed to have accepted the terms of the privacy policy on your first use of the website following the alterations. We therefore recommend you re-visit this page periodically to check for changes.
